

House of Memories on the Road is National Museums Liverpool's touring mobile museum that opens into an immersive cinema and activity space.

The first-ever immersive mobile museum experience in the UK, it has been designed to create memorable experiences for vulnerable and socially isolated people and people living with dementia.

The vehicle meets people in their neighbourhoods - at settings such as care homes, community centres or even local shopping car parks.

Using digital technology, House of Memories on The Road recreates the sights, sounds and smells of the past through a virtual 'front door'. Experiences include:

- a trip on Liverpool's Overhead Railway
- a visit to a 1950s grocery store
- a virtual day out at the seaside
- a journey back in time to an old school room

Monday May 18th 2026

Located on Allerton Car park, off Fredrick Road at Salford University from 11am-3pm

Email: m.j.pocsai@salford.ac.uk to book yourself a free ½ guided memory session in the mobile museum, be a volunteer on the day, or to get more information.

